

Art Classes @ The Foundry

The Caroline County Council of Arts continually seeks to expand its network of instructors for the purpose of providing arts education, creative outlets, hard skills training, and encouraging our artists of the future to pursue their dreams.

For participants: We strive to offer a diverse range of instructional classes, across skill levels ranging from beginners, intermediate and advanced. We choose instructors who are talented part-time or full-time artists, with varying levels of experience teaching. What they all have in common is their passion for sharing the arts, as well as positivity, patience and kindness with those under their tutelage. Our main goal is for you to have fun, while learning and finding inspiration along the way.

For instructors: We hope to provide you with value in the form of paid opportunities supporting your important work and passion; helping grow connections to the community; and promoting you as an artist. The Foundry offers entry-level opportunities for those wanting to try for the first time, as well as experienced instructors looking to offer intermediate to advanced training in particular mediums. We allow freedom to plan your own curriculum, in conjunction with desires of community members and potential participants as identified by The Foundry/CCCA.

Previous classes include: mosaics, collage, painting (all mediums), pen & ink, mobiles, jewelry-making, illustration, writing and more.
